SYNTELLOGIC INDUSTRIAL

Total control, zero shrinkage, absolute oversight.

Is your company losing money from a lack of operational visibility? In industry, what isn't measured gets lost. The disconnect between the production floor, the warehouse, and sales creates bottlenecks, petty theft, and decisions based on guesswork.

Focused on: manufacturing plants, CNC shops, construction companies and distributors

SYNTELLOGIC · CLIENTS AND SALES

Customer follow-up, quotes and warehouse control

Your customers, your quotes and your warehouse, always up to date.

THE PROBLEM

Disorganized inventory, downtime from missing material, and no real visibility into where each sales opportunity stands.

OUR SOLUTION

Two connected tools (warehouse control and customer follow-up) that update their information in real time, not necessarily a single login.

FEATURED CAPABILITIES

Automatic low-stock alerts WMS

The system watches every warehouse's inventory and automatically alerts you as soon as a material hits its minimum threshold, before it runs out.

The benefit: You no longer depend on someone checking the shelves in time. It prevents production stoppages from missing material and, at the same time, stops you from over-buying "just in case" (estimated: up to 20-30% less capital tied up in inventory).

Complete movement traceability WMS

Every time a part enters, leaves, or is moved within the warehouse, the system automatically logs who did it and at what time.

The benefit: If something doesn't add up, it's no longer a mystery: you can trace exactly what happened. It also acts as a natural deterrent against petty theft, because everyone knows every movement gets logged.

Sales & conversion reports BI

A single screen shows you sales by rep, by negotiation stage, and by client source, without having to ask anyone for a report.

The benefit: You make informed decisions instantly: who on your team is closing deals, how fast each negotiation moves, and where your best clients come from.

Quotes & customer follow-up CRM

Every client and every quote you send them is logged in one place, along with the contact history, so anyone on your team knows where each sales opportunity stands.

The benefit: You no longer lose a client from lack of follow-up. You know exactly who to call, what you quoted them, and when, without depending on one person's memory.

HOW IT WORKS, IN 3 STEPS

01

The warehouse movement or the quote/sale is entered into the system.

02

Each area (warehouse, sales, customer care) updates its part in real time.

03

You see status and sales from a single reports panel, without phone calls or manual reports.
